

Wonderful asymmetry of Lindsey Bucklew

Lindsey Bucklew \(Klewism\) is a beadwork artist who makes wonderful and unusual jewellery.

Thats how she describes herself:

“I’m an extreme example of the ‘left-handed’ person with ‘right-brain’ hemisphere dominance. I love asymmetry in nature and labyrinthine detail with no easily discernible organization. I’m captivated by animals, music, audio books, and ancient history. I collect trinkets with sentimental or visual interest and often use them, perhaps years later, in a painting, collage, or piece of jewelry. I gravitate towards anything fantastic or eccentric, over the structured and streamlined.”
